

Prior's Field School - Surrey, UK

Prior's Field pupils have a wide range of abilities, talents and interests. The aim of the school is to provide an excellent all-round education that brings out the best in each girl according to her abilities and talents. We do this by inspiring girls with an ambitious and tailored, all-round education which encourages them to think for themselves and enables them to realise their potential.

Staff at Prior's Field encourage and celebrate individuality, developing well-balanced, enterprising young women of integrity who leave school prepared for the next stage in life and ready to make their mark on the world.

Academic Approach:

Prior's Field is small enough to have a genuinely pupil-centred approach and individual needs determine our style of teaching. There is no mould into which the girls are shaped – they are all very different and valued as such. No one is invisible: we know who to stretch and who needs support.

Class sizes are small, averaging 20 in the first three years. After this, GCSE groupings tend to be smaller and, for A Level they offer a university-style tutorial approach.

The Boarding Experience:

Prior's Field is essentially a boarding school with a boarding school ethos.

Each pupil is offered the opportunity to develop, learn and experience in a safe and happy environment. Encouraging independence, self-reliance and co-operation is an important part of what we do, but boarding is also about having fun and making friends for life.

Boarders are able to take part in all after school clubs and activities, and still have time later to get on with prep before relaxing at bedtime.

Sports, Clubs and Activities:

The school offers an all round PE and physical activity programme, including Extra-Curricular sports, which allows each individual student to develop her talents to the best of her ability.

Clubs and activities are hugely significant and popular at Prior's Field. They run after school each day and, for boarders, some take place after supper. Over 30 different termly activities are on offer, including a full range of sports, music and drama.
