

Trent College - Long Eaton, UK

At Trent, we offer an education which celebrates all; the academic, the creative, the physical, the spiritual and the emotional. What makes Trent so distinct is the breadth of education that we offer and the level of support and care that we give to each student.

Our aim simply is to provide our children with a “thorough preparation for life”, because we think that this must be the purpose of a school; preparing young men and women getting them ready for all of the choices, the chances and the challenges that they will meet in their lives. We have a very high default setting at our school and we expect all of our students to reach very high levels of achievement, but we want so much more than just fabulous exam results.
