School Profile

Founded in 2005, Léman Manhattan Preparatory School is an international learning community committed to educating, empowering, and inspiring students to be confident, independent critical thinkers. Offering “world views from every classroom” is the heart of Léman’s mission. The Upper School faculty consists of 35 full-time teachers and 5 part-time teachers. 75% of the faculty have advanced degrees in their field. Léman Manhattan Preparatory School’s unique downtown campus is one block from the New York Stock Exchange, the financial capital of the world, and is in the center of New York City’s fastest growing neighborhood. Léman Upper School facility has light-filled classrooms and offers our students stunning 360-degree views of New York Harbor and the statue of Liberty.

Dormitories and Student Residences

Boarding students live at a beautifully-renovated, luxury apartment-style dormitory within convenient walking distance from the school. Rooms are designed as suites that accommodate 2-4 students, with students sharing use of common facilities. The dormitory also has 24-hour on-site security, as well as a team of boarding and teaching staff, who will supervise students and provide advice, guidance and schoolwork assistance.
