School Profile

Saint Paul began its legacy of providing faith-based education in the finest Lutheran tradition in 1883. The rigorous college preparatory curriculum offers more than 90 courses to both local and boarding students in grades 9-12. Its 40-acre campus includes academic classrooms, dormitories, a fine arts building, gymnasium, dining hall, outdoor track and sports fields, chapel, and new education conference center. The fully wireless campus, large library, writing lab, and computer lab put the latest technology at each student’s fingertips. With a student body of just over 200, Saint Paul offers small classes and a student-to-teacher ratio of 11 to 1. Teachers know their students, not just by name, but as individuals.

Dormitories and Student Residences

More than half of Saint Paul students reside on campus in separate residence halls, Heilman Hall and Brust Hall for boys and Moeller Hall for girls. Live-in counselors supervise and direct resident-life activities and serve as role models, confidants, and advisors. As a mainly residential school, there is a close sense of community that enables students to mature in the areas of relationships, study habits, and independence.
